Dr. J. Arviso provided updates regarding the construction of student, faculty, trades, and engineering buildings. Dr. Arviso pointed out that NTU is working with the Navajo Housing Authority (NHA) to secure funding for a student dormitory, and it will be completed in phases.

Dr. Stomp asked when the proposed student dormitory will be completed. Dr. Arviso mentioned that the new student dormitory will be completed in three years.

Sharon Nelson asked if students were involved in the design of the new student dormitory. Dr. Arviso noted that the architecture and engineering (A/E) design was completed a few years ago and students were involved.

For the Chinle faculty housing, Dr. Arviso noted that the cost of fill material to elevate the site for the trailers will cost about $3M; therefore, the project is being redesigned to reduce the amount of fill material and costs. The Chinle housing project will be funded by the McKenzie Scott financial investment, and it is expected to be completed by December 2024. Dr. Arviso further stated that NTU plans to break ground in August 2025 for Crownpoint faculty housing.

Sharon Nelson asked how many faculty housing units NTU is planning to build. Dr. Arviso mentioned that NTU plans to construct 30 faculty housing units in Crownpoint and 30 units in Chinle. The trailer park at Chinle will house an additional 15 housing units.

Gene Hult asked how long faculty are expected to live in Many Farms. Dr. Arviso said that Dr. Bowman will address the question.

For the engineering, computer science, and IT (interdisciplinary) building, Dr. Arviso stated that Dyron Murphy Architects is working on the A/E design.

Dr. Agbaraji asked if the interdisciplinary building will be ready before the next ABET visit in 2029. Dr. Arviso said the interdisciplinary building will be completed by then.
